17. The claims of the named class representative and the absent class members have a common origin and share a common basis. Their claims originate from the same illegal, fraudulent, unconscionable and/or negligent business practices of the Defendants as a joint enterprise, and the Defendants acted in the same way toward the Individual Plaintiff and the members of the class. As such, the individual Plaintiff has been a victim of the unconscionable business practices.

18. At all times relevant hereto, Defendants have engaged in a uniform scheme and course of conduct to inflate their profits by charging and collecting various fees not authorized by the insurance documents or applicable law.

The components of this scheme involve common tactics in which the Defendants have been overcharging canceling policy holders for coverage beyond the effective dates for the policy.

19. The proposed class representative states a claim upon which relief can be granted that is typical of the claims of absent class members. If brought and prosecuted individually, the claims of each class member would necessarily require proof of the same material and substantive facts, rely upon the same remedial theories, and seek the same relief.

20. The claims and remedial theories pursued by the named class representative are sufficiently aligned with the interests of absent class members to ensure that the individual claims of the class will be prosecuted with diligence and care by the individual Plaintiff as class representative.

21. The members of the class are so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable. The Defendants have thousands of policyholders per year. The class is ascertainable as the names and addresses of all class members can be identified in the business records maintained by the Defendants.

22. Questions of fact and law common to the class that predominate include but are not limited to:

- I. Did the Defendants impose and collect unnecessary and excessive fees and charges not authorized by the insurance contract or by applicable law?;
- II. Did the Defendants mislead or otherwise misinform customers about the amounts properly due and owing?;
- III. Did the Defendants engage in conduct that violates state and federal consumer protection laws?; and

- IV. Did the Defendants harass or otherwise treat customers unfairly and without regard to obligations of good faith and fair dealing?
- V. Did the Defendants act in violation of the New Jersey Truth-In-Consumer Contracts, Warranty and Notice Act with respect to each Class member by demanding charges to which they were not entitled?
- VI. Did the Defendants engage in unfair and/or deceptive acts and practices in violation of the New Jersey Consumer Fraud Act with respect to each Class member that includes one or more of the following:
 - a. Imposing and collecting unnecessary and excessive fees and charges not authorized by the insurance contract or by applicable law;
 - b. Imposing and collecting excessive interest;
 - c. Misleading or otherwise misinforming customers about the amounts properly due and owing;
 - d. Engaging in conduct that violates state and federal consumer protection laws; and
- VII. Did the Defendants represent to the Plaintiff that they are entitled to collect various premium charges that were not legally due and owing?
- VIII. Did the Defendants attempt to collect monies that are not due and owing under applicable law which would have resulted in unjust enrichment of the Defendants?

23. The named individual Plaintiff is willing and prepared to serve the Court and proposed class in a representative capacity with all of the obligations and duties material thereto. The individual Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class and have no interests adverse to, or which directly and irrevocably conflict with, the interests of the other class members.

24. The self-interest of the named class representative is co-extensive with and not antagonistic to those of the absent class members. The proposed representative will undertake to well and truly protect the interests of the absent class members.

25. The named individual Plaintiff has engaged the services of counsel indicated below. Said counsel are experienced in complex class litigation, will adequately prosecute this action and will assert, protect, and otherwise well represent the named class representative and absent class members.
26. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the class would create a risk of adjudications with respect to individual members of the class which would, as a practical matter, be dispositive of the interests of other members of the class who are not parties to the action, or could substantially impair or impede their ability to protect their interests.
27. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the class would create a risk of inconsistent or varying applications with respect to individual members of the class which would establish incompatible standards of conduct for the parties opposing the class. Such incompatible standards and inconsistent or varying adjudications, on what would be necessarily the same essential facts, proof and legal theories, would also create and allow to exist inconsistent and incompatible rights within the class.
28. The Defendants have acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the class, making final declaratory or injunctive relief appropriate.
29. The questions of law and fact common to members of the class predominate over any questions affecting only individual members.
30. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversies herein in that:

- b. individual claims by the class members are impractical as the costs of pursuit far exceed what any one Plaintiff or class member has at stake;
- c. as a result, there has been very little litigation over the controversies herein; and individual members of the class have no interest in prosecuting and controlling separate actions; and
- d. the proposed class action is manageable.
